SCHOOL FOR JOCKEYS

Present prospects in this country are for racing and more racing. New York has extended the number of races per day from eight to nine and other major states are following suit. Bills are pending in several state legislatures leading toward the legalisation of pari-mutuel betting where none is allowed. The number of Thoroughbred foals registered is increasing at the rate of approximately a thousand a year.

One thing that is not increasing, however, is the supply of qualified jockeys and exercise boys. We say qualified advisedly. As long as they have horses in the barn and a place to train and run, trainers will somehow get riders for them, no matter how incompetent. The fact of the matter, however, is that the standard of riding at our race tracks is steadily declining, in spite of earning opportunities which are increasing, equally steadily.

What to do? There has been a great deal of talk, in the press, along the backstretch, in owners' boxes and in officials' stands, but very little action. A few trainers have tried to maintain their own schools. Some years ago Hollywood Park, in California, started such a school. Unfortunately it met with sabotage. Many of the trainers at this track were so jealous and short-sighted that they refused to give their boys enough time off to attend.

Actually the basis for a solution was never better. In all of the principal racing states we now have member clubs of the United Pony Clubs, Inc. These clubs are giving the youngsters who attend the soundest kind of grounding in the fundamental principles of horsemanship. Any pony club member with a "B" certificate can muck out a stall, rub a horse, cool him out and feed, far better than half the guineas, swipes and hot walkers now earning high wages at the track. They also know enough to recognise a sick or injured horse and to let the trainer know about it. They have a good grounding in the basic principles of riding. Those that are light enough to make the weight would be ideal candidates for jockey school.

The only bodies with sufficient authority to solve the problem are the various State Racing Commissions. It is quite within their power to require that the tracks they regulate join together to set up a state jockey school.

THE CHRONICLE

It is also quite within their power to specify that, after a certain date, no jockey applying for a license for the first time would be granted such license unless he had a diploma from that school or from a school, recognised by the Commission, in another state. The National Association of State Racing Commissioners could arrange for concerted action so as to create an adequate number of schools throughout the country.

The need is urgent. We respectfully recommend the idea for their consideration.

"Loose Rein or Contact"

Dear Sir:

I sincerely hope that all of your riding readers will take heed of your excellent editorial article entitled "Loose Rein or Contact" that appeared in the issue of March 13th. I have been advocating contact riding both in teaching and in writing since early in the 1930's. In my opinion contact riding and the reasons for it should be taught to every youngster at the very beginning of his instruction in equitation. It is not at all difficult and once learned it becomes an instinctive part of the riders actions and reactions.

However, if contact riding is to be effective it must be combined with the "following hand", so as to teach the horse, not only to "accept" but "to seek" the bit. To seek the bit means that he continuously, deliberately, but gently, tends to stretch his head and neck into the ends of the reins permitted by the rider, and to retain that attitude of the head and neck until asked to do otherwise. The length of the reins permitted of course depends upon the gait or pace being used. The reins should be long for the ordinary or extended paces, and somewhat shorter for the trot and for the collected paces of all three gaits.

The "following hand" is required in contact riding because, at any gait the horse makes certain involuntary motions and gestures with his head and neck (his balancer). These involuntary balancer maneuvers are a necessary, co-ordinated part of the mechanics of his various strides. If these involuntary maneuvers of the balancer are restrained or restricted by a hand that does not follow while on contact then the horse is not only made uncomfortable but his natural way of going is damaged or destroyed. Therefore the hand in contact riding must be mobile and follow the involuntary movements of the balancer culminating in

Wood Memorial Adds More Tempo To Kentucky Derby Drumbeats

Raleigh Burroughs

On the afternoon of July 4, 1919, two teams of small boys were trying to see which one could make the most runs, on a rockpile known as Keyworth Oval.

Between innings a lively discussion was going on regarding another sport, and the older members of the community-spectators at the ball game - took an active part in the arguments.

A keen observation voiced by a sage of sport put an end to the debates and made a lasting impression on the short-stop of the home (or weaker) team.

"A good big man," said Mr. Elias (the sage of sport in our neighborhood), "will always beat a good little man."

This seemed like a masterpiece of logic to the shortstop mentioned above, as he had been beaten by numerous bigger men - and not a few smaller ones.

So I bet my allowance on Jess Willard, and there I was on my first beaten favorite.

If you have a record book that remembers back that far, you will find that Mr. Willard was crashed to the canvas by a Mr. William Harrison Dempsey.

In 1919, Man o'War was a two-year-old and the sports fans of the era were getting used to superlative performances.

Mr. Dempsey was the same kind of smasher as Man o'War. He murdered 'em. And he gained the admiration of the writing pros and the reading amateurs. Somebody tagged him the Manassa Mauler, and that perfect piece of descriptive alliteration stuck.

Dempsey's deeds of devastation earned him a prominent place in Sport's Hall of Fame. Nobody rates him less than "one of the greatest" and those who saw him perform place him second to none.

Another Discussion

On Saturday, April 18, 1959, some of the little boys who played baseball 40 years ago were involved in another discussion.

None of them can throw a ball across a diamond anymore. As a matter of fact, the shortstop of the home (or weaker) team couldn't throw it across in 1919. Because of this the club boasted the only firstbaseman in the league with boughen incisors. Keyworth Oval was no place to scoop up bounders.

Forty years make many changes in boy athletes; they learn numerous things, but boy athletes who bet on favorites never learn.

Thus, when the name Manassa Mauler came up, a look of scorn came upon a certain erstwhile Casey's face.

The Wood Memorial, as anyone with a fresh Racing Form could see, was among Meadow Stable's First Landing, Brookfield Farms' Intentionally and Elkcarn Stable's Atoll.

Among persons considering the outcome of the race, the name of Manassa Mauler was brought up only for laughs - and didn't get any - only pity, and the recommendation that a visit be made to a competent specialist on mental illness.

This kind of thinking was indulged in also by Jockeys Edward Arcaro, William Shoemaker and Samuel Boulmetis, riders, respectively, of First Landing, Intentionally and Atoll.

By common impulse, decision or agreement, these young gentlemen made a three-horse race of the Wood from the beginning.

Jockey Ray Broussard, probably because his horse couldn't run any faster, galloped along in fourth place, some lengths back of the first three.

As it was a foregone conclusion that Manassa Mauler, Open View, Our Dad, Audience and Noble Sel didn't have a chance, little attention was paid to them by the pilots of the pace horses and about 40,000 of the 40,063 clients in Jamaica's stands.

With about a quarter of a mile left of the 1 1/8-mile race it became evident that First Landing and Arcaro had the first division whipped. Atoll was sinking rapidly and Intentionally was losing his urge to be king.

As the field came into the stretch, First Landing suddenly had a clear lead, and then there was this horse coming up on the rail and it was another horserace.

The second division was arriving. With Manassa Mauler driving through on the rail and Our Dad coming even faster up the middle, the entire picture changed in a split second.

Manassa Mauler got through, but Our Dad was blocked for a short instant, but that was enough to allow First Landing to hold second place.

Three-quarters of a length was Manassa Mauler's margin of victory, and First Landing, in second place, held his position by the same distance over Our Dad.

Intentionally was fourth, six lengths back of the show horse.

Those who had mentioned Manassa Mauler and were branded mental cases in pre-race colloquies, had plenty of money to pay the alienist - $129.50 for each $2.

By A Kentucky Derby Winner

Manassa Mauler is by the Kentucky Derby winner, Count Turf, out of Escalade, by *Sir Gallahad III. He was bred by Jack Amiel.

He was claimed for $12,500 last November, at Jamaica, by his present owner, Emil Dolce.

He was a maiden when he finished his two-year-old campaign, with earnings of $350.

This year he has won 4 out of 7, but in previous stakes efforts did not impress. He finished eighth behind Troilus in the Flamingo and seventh (by 24 lengths) back of Atoll in the Gotham.

He is not entered in any of the Triple Crown races, but may be made eligible to the Preakness and Belmont if his Ten handicap horses answered starter George B. Cassidy's call for the 35th running of the Westchester Stakes at Jamaica, Wed., April 15. The special weights stakes, for 4-year-olds and upward, was run at one and one-sixteenth miles for $25,000 added.

C. Mahlon Kline's *Mystic II took the measure of W. A. Hanger's Whitley by a neck. Whitley held the lead from the start, but could not withstand *Mystic II's stretch drive. Mrs. J. B. Paul's Slaipner was third and F. J. Thompson's Sabotage was 4th. *Mystic II was clocked at 1.43 3/5.

*Mystic II is by the American-bred Relic out of Aosaca, by Tourbillon, and was bred by F. Dupre in France. Morris H. Dixon, Sr., who is well known to hunt meeting followers, saddled the winner and M. Sorrintino was in the irons.

The 5-year-old *Mystic II got $18,452.50 for this one.

The Wood Memorial

E. Dolce's Manassa Mauler stunned the racing world by defeating Meadow Stable's favored First Landing in the 35th running of the Wood Memorial, Sat., April 18th. It was a scale weight stakes (126 pounds) for 3-year-olds, at one and one-eighth miles, with $75,000 added. First Landing had the lead going into the stretch but could not stand off the charge of Manassa Mauler, which got in front to win by three quarters of a length. Patrice Jacobs' Our Dad got the show money and Brookfield Farm's Intentionally the small end of the purse. The time was 1.49 3/5 over a fast track. Elkcarn Stable's Atoll, another Kentucky Derby hopeful, finished sixth. The Wood Memorial results make the "run for the roses" more and more a "hat-pin choice" in the colt section and the filly, Silver Spoon, may wind up going into the race a favorite.

The winner is a bay son of Count Turf out of Escalade, by *Sir Gallahad III, bred by J. J. Amiel, a restaurateur. He was claimed last November for $12,500 by Emil Dolce, another boniface. He is trained by Frank "Pancho" Martin and jockey R. Broussard was the rider. Manassa Mauler got $55,915 for his sparkling victory. The winner is not eligible for the Derby. He ran six times as a 2-year-old and remained a maiden. The Wood Memorial was his seventh start as a 3-year-old and his 4th victory.

The Chesapeake Stakes

Laurel's Chesapeake Stakes lured eleven 3-year-olds on Sat., April 18. It had $25,000 added and was run at one and one-sixteenth miles. Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Rare

Rice won by one and one-half lengths over Cockfield Stable's Nimmer. G. A. Garrett's Bonzo was third and Mrs. B. Cohen's Pen Bolero fourth. Rare Rice took command after leaving the gate and was never headed. His time was 1.44 2/5.

The winner is a dark bay colt, by Olympia-Altaïr, by Chance Play, bred by the owner's Danada Farm. J. Culmone had the winning ride and C. Trout is the trainer. Rare Rice's share of the loot for the score was $18,850. Rare Rice was the only one of the first three horses to finish, who is nominated for the Kentucky Derby. After the race his connections were seriously considering the trip to Louisville.

Other Stakes

Greek Chief, the 4-year-old bay son of *Ambiorix-Greek Blond, by *Heliopolis, bred by Blenheim Farms won the $10,000 Ben Ali Handicap, on Saturday, April 18th, at Keeneland Race Course, Lexington, Ky. His share of the purse was $9,395.

Argonne Stable's By Hy defeated 12 three-year-olds in the Bridgeport Handicap at Lincoln Downs, on April 18th. The dark bay colt by Hypothetical-BY ME, by Grand Slam received $5,300 for the 7 furlongs, overnight handicap. He was bred by Crown Crest Farm.

Neil S. McCarthy's Finnegan, named after his trainer, William B. Finnegan, ran the one and one-eighth miles of the California Derby in 1.49 1/5 to beat some of the best three-year-olds on the coast, at Tanforan, Sat., April 18.

Finnegan is a chestnut son of *Royal Charger-Last Wave, by Bull Lea and was bred by his owner. Johnny Longden rode the winner.

Middleburg Hunt Race Meeting

(2nd DAY)

Chris Wood, Jr.

Having ridden three winners with his three mounts on the first of the Middleburg Hunt Race Association's two Saturdays of racing, Kenneth Field emulated that feat on Saturday, April 18, at Middleburg, Va. to run his skein to six consecutive winners. Field's field-day was finally broken when Randolph D. Rouse's Curly Joe, making his first start of the year, finished third in the featured brush race at the Glenwood Park course. By virtue of two triumphs at the Deep Run Hunt's session, the veteran rider now has 5 winners over obstacles and 3 on the flat to pace the jockeys who ply their trade between the flags.

Not overshadowed by the feats of Field, owner-trainer Randolph D. Rouse and trainer Sidney Watters, Jr. each saddled doubles to win 4 of the 5 sanctioned races on the final day of sport. With a bit of haze under the sun and warm weather prevailing, a gathering of about 5,000 enjoyed a good day of racing which was brought off without any spills and only one disqualification marring an otherwise perfect program.

*Red Sun 2nd Wins

Failing to enter the charmed circle in 3 previous attempts over hurdles this season, Mrs. Henry Obre's *Red Sun 2nd carried Field to his first victory of the day in winning the Wanquepin, a 1 1/2 mile race over the lesser obstacles. Leading over the initial hurdle by a length, the imported horse was shuffled back to be 6th over the next hurdle, as J. B. Watriss' Van Diemen showed briefly in front. Over the 4th, Mrs. Jack Grabosky's *Villena showed in front by 2 lengths, with Walter M. Jeffords' Candace and *Red Sun 2nd in her wake as named. Jumping the 5th hurdle in the same positions, Field made his move on landing and showed in front over the 6th and final hurdle by 1 1/2 lengths, with *Villena in 2nd place and Candace 3rd. In the run for the wire, the latter tired to drop out of contention, while Mrs. Cordelia Scaife May's December closed stoutly. Past the finish poles it was *Red Sun 2nd by 1 1/2 lengths, with *Villena holding on under Robert S. McDonald to gain place honors, just a half length to the good of the rapidly closing December with Custer (Mike) Cassidy astride. A field of 10 contested the issue and the Irish import broke his maiden over obstacles in 2:44 on a firm course.

Gerald B. Webb, Jr. Memorial Consistent - that is, consistently 2nd in his 4 previous starts over hurdles this season, Randolph D. Rouse's Gokey responded to Field's handling and accounted for the Gerald B. Webb, Jr. Memorial. Best of the half-dozen starters in the 1 3/4 mile hurdle handicap, the eventual winner was 3rd over the 1st of 7 hurdles as Mrs. S. C. Clark, Jr.'s Shield Bearer and Mrs. Clara E. Adams' *Le Bluizard showed the way. Drawing away on landing, Gokey took command over the 2nd obstacle and led for the balance of the journey with Shield Bearer and *Le Bluizard behind him as named, throughout. Shouldering 135 pounds, the owner-trained Gokey crossed the finish line 1 1/2 lengths in front of Shield Bearer, with *Le Bluizard gaining 3rd money, 3 1/2 lengths further back. The top-weighted *St. Phideas (152) finished 4th after running last over the first 4 hurdles. The winner was timed in 3:12 1/5.

Elated with Gokey's triumph, owner-trainer Rouse put Field upon his Bloomin' Owl in the Benton, an "about" 6-furlong event on the turf. A field of 16 faced starter H. A. (Brud) Plumb, who managed to get the bulky group off to a good start. Rated 4th as Leon T. Greenaway's Sir Nigel and Mrs. Daniel Marzani's Troic alternated the early pace, Bloomin' Owl

Grand National Point-to-Point

Snowden Carter

Achieving his second straight score of Maryland's spring point-to-point season, Stuart S. Janney Jr.'s Mainstay won the three-mile Grand National at Butler (Md.) on April 18.

After his chief contender fell at the next-to-last fence, Mainstay coasted home a galloping ten-length winner over H. Robertson Fenwick's Fluctuate.

The Grand National, which was having its 57th running, was witnessed by a crowd of 2,000 on a warm and cloudy afternoon. The course, firm without being hard, was in excellent condition.

Nine horses started in the race run annually in the Western Run Valley eighteen miles north of Baltimore, and six were still on their feet at the end of the 18-fence timber test.

Mainstay, who only the Saturday before had picked up an easy score in the My Lady's Manor at Monkton (Md.), was ridden by 30-year-old Benjamin H. (Laddie) Murray.

Jumping perfectly throughout, Mainstay was being hard-pushed for the lead by William Turner's Carolina Hills when the latter fell at the 17th fence.

After the elimination of Carolina Hills, Fluctuate, ridden by Crompton Smith Jr., came on to earn the runner-up spot, five lengths in front of Janon Fisher Jr.'s Shindy.

Completing the field in the order of their finish were Lewis C. Ledyard's Jimp, William B. Thompson's Gofetchit and Mrs. John B. Hannum 3d's Theodoric.

Bryan Armstrong, who fell with Harry A. Love's Berber at the second fence, was treated at the Union Memorial Hospital in Baltimore for a minor neck injury.

William Turner Jr., rider of his father's Carolina Hills, was not injured in his spill. Also failing to complete the course was Snuggle Bunny, ridden by his owner, Robin Walker.

Walker, a Canadian, amazed the clerk of the scales prior to the race when he reported himself 37 pounds overweight.

Snuggle Bunny carried 202 pounds instead of the 165 assigned all contestants. A distant trailer during the early stages, the mare was eased up nearing the 12th jump.

After the race, a delighted Laddie Murray exclaimed: "Mainstay jumped beautifully all the way. I don't know what happened to Carolina Hills.

"We were going head and head at the next to last jump and he fell. That's all there was to it."

Asked if Mainstay would have triumphed had Carolina Hills not come a-cropper, Laddie replied: "That's something nobody can answer. My horse was driving and so was Carolina Hills."

A close contender for the lead from the start of the three-mile race, Mainstay took over the pacesetter's role at the 12th and then alternated the advantage with Carolina Hills up until the latter fell.

Jimp, ridden by the French jockey Michel Baille, fell at the fourth jump but was remounted and took fourth place some 35 lengths behind the winner.

Theodoric, with Louis Neilson 3d in the saddle, was a close contender behind Mainstay and Carolina Hills when he cut a beacon approaching the 17th fence. Neilson eventually got his horse back on the course but he finished a badly distanced last.

Mainstay was timed in 6.14 3/5, six full seconds off the course record set by Coke Hi last year.

The Western Run Plate

Second event on the two-race program was the 11th running of the Western Run Plate, a three-mile test restricted to horses which had never won a race over timber.

Mrs. Walter Stokes's Aquitime Play was a galloping 20-length winner over Mrs. Juan M. Ceballos's Barge Toter with E. H. Bennett's Pobejo accounting for third position.

The Irish Grand National

Philip deBurgh O'Brien

Glorious summer-like weather favored the Irish Grand National meeting, Fairyhouse on Easter Monday. An all-time record crowd, estimated at between 80 and 90,000 people saw a thrilling day's racing. They had come from near and far, no greater proof that as a popular meeting Fairyhouse must be unrivalled, of its kind, in the world. None were more appreciative than the big contingent of Americans present. Here Nature vied with glamor. The rich greenness stretching from the stand out to Ballyhack; the thunder of hooves approaching the bush fence, the three-card men, the multitude itself, all out to make Fairyhouse what people know and look forward to. In the surrounding plain families lunched, music was heard, varying from The Walls Of Limerick, with steps to suit, to the strains of Charley Brown, sung by the youngsters from the city. This meeting had everything. Nor were finances neglected for on Easter Monday a new Tote Aggregate of 61,425 pounds ($172,000) was established, which is the highest ever recorded anywhere in Ireland.

The Irish Grand National, over three and one quarter miles, brought out what was, in my opinion, a better class field than had contested the Aintree event. The winner, Zonda, won with the proverbial ton in hand, coming away two fences out, with the rest struggling, so hot had been the pace. He had been with the leaders all the way, and jumped like the stag is supposed to, Knightsbridge, ridden by Toss Taaffe, was beaten by 4 lengths, in front of Mazzeibelle, ridden by L. McLoughlin, third. Then came in order, Jonjo, Sandy Jane II, Kilballyowen and the disappointing favorite, Knight Errant, next. Neither the other joint-favorite, Quita Que, or Lord Fingal's Roddy Owen, a fine chaser but one seemingly not destined to win an Irish National, could make much impression. It must be remembered that one bad jump, or even a slight mistake, can put a horse right out of the money in a race of this class.

Zonda, which must be one of the most promising young chasers in either country, is an eight year old gelding by Dornot-Zanthene. He carried 146 pounds and was ridden with great artistry by Pat Taaffe. Michael Geraghty trained him. This winner has surely been a gift horse for owner Mrs. G. St. John Nolan, for he was practically "given away" by Captain

JUVENILE RACING

This business of emphasis on two-year-old racing (which is all in the wrong direction if anybody asks me) got another boost with the announcement that Tropical Park will put on one for Florida-breds next December. It will be called the Florida Breeders Championship and it will be at a mile and a sixteenth for Florida-foaled two-year-olds registered with the Florida Breeders Association. Tropical Park will put up $7,500 and the owners will probably put up as much or more than that. Nominations at $10 will close March 1. Then there will be a $25 payment to remain eligible before July 15. The last pay-

Maguire. He became the first horse in history to win the Leopardstown Chase and the National in one season. Last year he won the Maiden Chase, on Easter Monday, when few looked to him as the big name of 1959!

We had a spot of drama, too, as rider Alan Lillington (who rode Roddy Owen in the National), limping from a Phoenix Park accident on the previous Saturday, had to have a pre-race pain-killing injection before going out to win on Venetian Glass in the Fairyhouse Chase. No young horse impressed me as much, apart from Zonda, as the seven-year-old Sieur Trois Etoiles, when taking the Maiden Chase in very hot company. Cashel View was all the rage here, but nothing could go with the winner, well ridden by Frank Carroll.

Of course it was bothersome getting out the car for the return journey home, but who really cared - for this had been a Day To Remember. I am sure all our ment will be $100 to pass the entry box the day before the race. Whether there are any opportunities for supplementary entries has not been announced.

This one will be an allowance race with 122 pounds as the base weight. The actual date of the running hasn't been announced although it is contemplated that it will be in December.

If they put up much more money and have many more races for the two-year-olds, in a few years it's going to be tough to get a field together for the Kentucky Derby and there won't be any such a thing as a handicap division. Any horse over three will be so broken down from heavy early racing that he won't be fit for anything but $2,500 claiming races. As a matter of fact, look at how hard it is to get enough horses which are still fit and can run that far to make a decent field for The Belmont even now, and that's only for three-year-olds. R. J. CANADA

IMPORTED MAHAN

Ben R. Steen of Toronto has purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Allie E. Reuben of Hasty House Farm, a half interest in the 8-year-old stallion *Mahan (Avenger-Sans Tares, by Sind), who won the 1957 running of the Washington, D. C. International at Laurel. *Mahan will continue to race for the Reubens in 1959, but will then go to stud in Canada where he will stand in the Toronto area.

BELMONT VISITORS

Two visitors from Japan, here with the blessings of their country and drawn here by the International sport of Thoroughbred racing, took quarters at Belmont Park. They are Takeo Ikeuchi and Mitsuru Kondo, and they are the guests of The Jockey Club and New York Racing Association while they spend a month or two studying all phases of the sport in the country.

Their particular host here is to be Marshall Cassidy, Vice President and Director of Racing for the NYRA, and Executive Secretary of The Jockey Club. Mr. Cassidy, in the exchange which is planned between the two countries, is to repay their visit at the conclusion of our racing and himself tour prominent racing centers in Japan.

The trip is the culmination of two years of correspondence between the two countries, instigated by the Japanese and enthusiastically assisted, wherever possible here, by The Jockey Club and the NYRA. Both visitors have been studying English in preparation for their trip and both are graduate veterinarians as well as officials of the Japan Racing Association.

Mr. Ikeuchi graduated from the School of Agriculture of Kokkaido Imperial University and, following his graduation, worked for fifteen years for the Ministry of Agriculture and Forestry, specializing in the administration of horse breeding and racing. Since 1954, he has been with the Racing Association and at present is Chief of their Administration Division.

Mr. Kondo's racing history is similar, he having been, since 1954, an assistant Racing Secretary at the Head Office of the Association and has been serving as a patrol judge at every meeting. He is a veterinary graduate of Tokyo Imperial University.

A room has been prepared for their stay in the cottage of the George D. Widener stables at Belmont and both men plan to remain close to the study of every form of American racing during their visit here.

KENTUCKY

MISS DISCO HONORED

The Kentucky Thoroughbred Breeders Association has selected Miss Disco, dam of the 1957 Horse of the Year, Bold Ruler, as "Broodmare of the Year 1958."

VIRGINIA

VIRGINIA THOROUGHBRED ASSOCIATION

The date of the annual meeting of the Virginia Thoroughbred Association has been changed to Friday, May 15th. It was felt that with the Preakness being on Saturday, more people would be in the area on Friday. Plans call for Marshall Cassidy of the Jockey Club as principal speaker. The meeting will be at the Middleburg Community Center.

BRAZILIAN EFFICIENCY CUP

The following is from the Brazilian Bloodstock Letter, edited and released by the Brazilian Thoroughbred Breeders' Association: "The Rio racing magazine 'Vida Turfista', through a panel of racing experts, has been conducting an 'Efficiency Cup', according to which, for the year 1958, the Stud Seabra emerged as the leading establishment with 84 races won. That stud's trainer, Pedro Gusso Filho, had the best winning ratio, 55 out of 185 nominations, and the stable's jockey, Francisco Irigoyen, was the winner of 39 races out of 129 mounts, with a winning percentages of 30.23 %. This appears to be highly satisfactory, in view of the frequency with which horses are engaged on the principal Brazilian racecourses."

49 STATES PRODUCE THOROUGHBREDS

The person who said that "a good horse could be bred at the North Pole" will have a chance to prove his point now that Alaska has become the 49th State.

Statistics released by The Jockey Club, listing the birthplace of the current crop of two-year-olds, show that, with the lone exception of Alaska, every state of the Union, including Hawaii, the 50th member, had produced at least one of the foals registered for racing this year.

A total of 10,757 were registered with The Jockey Club of which 963 were foaled outside the continental limits of the United States. Of these 803 were foaled in Canada, 100 in Mexico, 39 in Cuba and 21 in Puerto Rico.

The possibility of breeding Thoroughbreds in Alaska is not so remote as one might think. The coastal regions in the southern part of the state are fertile and grassy and have temperatures no colder than that of Idaho and Montana. There are several owners of Thoroughbreds residing in Alaska who have been breeding their stock in Washington. Now that their own state is a member of the Union it will be a matter of pride for them to experiment and see what Alaska can produce.

As usual, Kentucky was the foaling place of the highest percentage of the foals. It led the list with 3,061, representing almost 33% of the total. California, which has been developing its breeding farms in the past decade, accounts for 1,502 of the current crop, with Virginia third with 625 registered foals.

trainer, says —

"Top Handicap winner... Clem... gets washed down with Absorbine after every workout"

Time and time again, from the Midwest to the East Coast, Clem raced and won against the top stakes horses in the country.

To keep Clem racing and winning, "Bill" Stephens, one of America's leading trainers, depends on Absorbine to help stop trouble before it starts. As a therapeutic measure, as an all-round leg wash, brace and cooler, Absorbine has no equal as an anti-septic liniment.

Absorbine not only relieves pain, swelling and sores, but it is safe, too—doesn't blister or rub off hair.

A large bottle, with complete instructions, costs only $2.50 at any druggist.

LAUREL EXTRAS

Among the attractions at Laurel's spring meeting are Ladies' Day every Thursday and a Handicappers' Day every Tuesday.

On Ladies' Day there is a ladies' seminar in the Clubhouse at 11:15 a.m.

Each week somebody prominent in racing talks to the girls in these morning sessions. I'll bet Laurel could make the seminars really popular if they just had a speaker who could pick maybe two winners at 20 to 1.

For Handicappers' Day, the track awards a $100 U. S. Savings Bond to the person picking the most winners. That's fine all right, but the person who has the most winners doesn't need the savings bond. It's the poor Joe who hasn't had a winner for nine straight days who ought to get it.

"EASIEST RIDE I EVER HAD"

In a recent interview Joe Notter, who rode Regret to win the Kentucky Derby in 1915, stated: "That was the easiest ride I ever had." Regret led all the way to defeat 15 colts. Mr. Notter resides in Floral Park, N. Y. and will be 69 on his next Birthday.

Regret was owned by Harry Payne Whitney, the father of Cornelius Vanderbilt (Sonny) Whitney, who has a hot prospect for this year's Derby in Silver Spoon. She could become the second filly to win "the run for the roses".

The sinking of the Lusitania the day before the 1915 Kentucky Derby almost caused Regret to be scratched. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt was one of the 114 Americans lost in the tragedy. Mr. Whitney wanted to scratch Regret but Joe Notter and the trainer, the late James Rowe, persuaded him not to make that move.

Of all those connected with Regret only Joe Notter is alive to talk about the great day that followed. M. R.

NEW AQUEDUCT

The New York Racking Association's new $33 million Aqueduct race track will open for Thoroughbred racing competition on Monday, September 14, according to NYRA President, John W. Hanes.

Slated to be the nation's largest, most modern racing plant and embodying the best features of top tracks all over the world, Aqueduct has been under construction since 1956, when the old facilities were completely leveled to make way for the new wonder track.

The original target date for Aqueduct's completion was July 1, 1959, but severe winter weather and other unanticipated construction delays have prevented this date from being met.

Mr. Hanes said he had been given assurances by Stone & Webster, Inc., the engineers and managers of construction, and by Arthur Froehlich and Associates, the architects, that the track would be turned over to NYRA late in July.

As New York's first new Thoroughbred race track in more than 50 years, the new Aqueduct literally will be a "city within a city", with a grandstand and club house equal in height to a ten-story building and capable of seating 20,000 persons under cover. In addition, 14,000 other seats in gardens, rest areas, dining-rooms and cafeterias will be available for the comfort of the public. Aqueduct has been planned to accommodate 80,000 in all.

One of Aqueduct's major attractions is its location, Mr. Hanes said. Situated on the Belt Parkway across from Idlewild Airport, Aqueduct will be "readily accessible to both the jet plane traveler, the subway rider and the motorist."

The new Aqueduct has been designed so that racegoers will have an unobstructed view of the entire racing oval from every part of the clubhouse, grandstand and the standee-ramp. He pointed out the ramp has a 5 degree slope so that fans standing under the front part of the grandstand will have an unobstructed view also.

BROODMARE SIRE

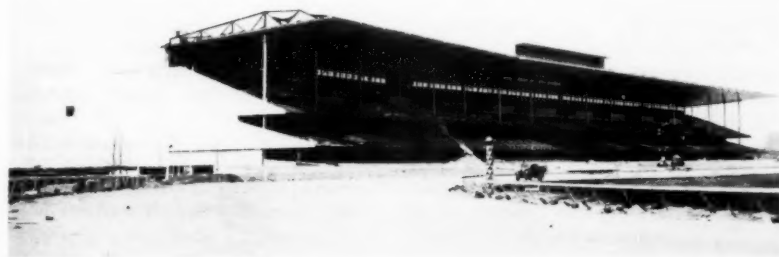

Calumet Farm's Bull Lea (*Bull Dog - Rose Leaves by Ballot) was the leading broodmare sire in the United States in 1958, 172 colts and fillies out of 89 mares sired by him having earned $1,645,812 by means of 252 wins, 211 seconds and 227 thirds. Second on the list was *Blenheim II (Blandford - Malva by Charles O'Malley), sire of mares whose off-spring earned $1,511,368.

MONMOUTH STEWARDS

Amory L. Haskell, president of Monmouth Park, Oceanport, N. J., has announced the appointment of Keene Dangerfield and Harold A. Plumb as stewards to serve during Monmouth Park's 50-day summer meeting which opens June 12th. Also in the Stewards' stand will be Earl S. Potter, representing the New Jersey State Racing Commission. Since 1947 Mr. Plumb has been official starter for all race meetings conducted under the auspices of the United Hunts Racing Association. He also acts as starter at many of the hunt race meetings.

WILLIE STEPHENSON

Willie Stephenson, trainer of Oxo, recent winner of the Grand National, is one of the few trainers in history to have trained the winners of both this race and the Epsom Derby. He trained the 1951 Derby winner, Arctic Prince.

NEW JERSEY'S MECHANICAL ASSISTANT

The electronic-brain may never replace the racing secretary, but may well prove an indispensable mechanical assistant in "writing a better show" for horse tracks - if experiments prove successful at Garden State Park's Spring meeting, May 2 - 30.

In announcing the experiment, Garden State Park's Executive Vice-President Walter H. Donovan said the track was "proud to be a part, with Monmouth Park, in the pioneering of what could be the most important mechanical development in the sport since the introduction of the automatic totalisator.

After two years of study and eight months of preparing material, a punch-card-data-processing system will be put in operation here to supply Racing Secretary M. C. (Ty) Shea with vital information about horses for the preparation of his racing programs.

President Frank Wright and Secretary-Treasurer Bob Fahey of "Stat-Track", the Wilmington, Del. company supplying the service, report that almost 400 thousand IBM cards have already been punched for individual horses and races - and are being kept current.

Successfully and effectively operated in other fields, the punch-card-data-processing system is being tried in horse racing for the first time under the joint sponsorship of Garden State Park and Monmouth Park. If it clicks here for the 25-day Spring Meeting, the service will be continued at Monmouth for its 50 days of racing.

The information cards on the individual horses list the owner, trainer, age, sex, class, claiming price if any, distance of races run, earnings in each race, finish in each race and date of each race.

Minutes after the closing of entries daily, the machines will supply a printed past performance of every horse in every race, for the racing secretary.

The information on available horses at Garden State Park and nearby tracks will considerably help the racing secretary in the preparation of his "condition book". And, once the book is written, Stat-Track will supply an alphabetical list of the horses eligible for each race.

Wright predicts the service will help the racing secretary to increase the size of fields, improve the wagering in the daily double, improve the wagering in the last race. Also, it will serve as an identification system for horses and record the activity of the owner and trainer on a daily basis.

HUNTING

IROQUOIS HUNT

Lexington,
Kentucky.
Established 1880.
Inactive 1914-1926.
Recognized 1929.

It is a good thing for fox-hunting that most of those who hunt have short memories: thus, every season seems to be the best one of all. Be that as it may, during 1958-1959 the Iroquois Hunt of Lexington, Ky. enjoyed excellent sport. With hounds going out every Wednesday and Saturday, from October through March, only 4 hunts had to be cancelled. And although the winter months were plagued with extreme cold weather, these 4 were cancelled because of rain and sloppy footing. On one occasion, we hunted when the temperature never got above 15. But though we had our share of zero weather, a warming trend usually made Wednesdays and Saturdays endurable, if not balmy.

Highlight of the season was the joint meet held with Camargo Hunt of Cincinnati, Camargo journeying to Lexington on the first Saturday of November to take part in the annual ceremony of the Blessing of the Hounds. A cold drizzle fell on horses and riders even as the Rt. Rev. William R. Moody blessed them, and the hounds that serve them in the chase. The visual brilliance of the occasion was somewhat dimmed by the numerous raincoats, but the spirits of those who came out to hunt were unimpaired. Scenting proved excellent, and it was not long after the cast that a handsome red fox was picked up in Gentry's Cliff. He, too, seemed fully aware of the demands of the occasion, and he made two great circles through the open hunting country that surrounds Gentry's Cliff before being put to earth not far from the spot where the run began.

Mileage estimates made on horseback, while riding behind a pack of hounds in full cry, have a way of erring in the direction of overstatement. Suffice it to say that it was a spectacular run, with the front riders among the field of 76 never out of sight of hounds. The speed and duration of the run can be gauged by the fact that many of the 76 starters were not present at the finish.

But probably the greatest hunting day of all came to the Iroquois in February. It was a day of perfect weather - cool, bright and still. Old-timers with the Iroquois claim that the first run of the day was as good as any, and the second was far better than most. But perhaps we should remind ourselves once again that fox-hunters have short memories.

Then, there was the day of the 4 foxes - all four viewed and all four giving a good account of themselves before being put to earth. And we could go on forever, picking outstanding days here and there (and omitting all others, of course).

Throughout the season, fields have been large, numbering around 30 or 35 on Saturdays. The good work of the U. S. Pony Club was evidenced by the number of juniors present, never less than 4 and often as many as 8. In addition, two hunts were scheduled especially for Pony Club members. These two, with the promise of no jumping, brought out field of close to 50 riders on a vast assortment of small ponies, large ponies and full-sized hunters.

As these notes are being written, the end of March - and thus, the end of the hunting season - is in view. The Iroquois Hunt traditionally concludes its season with the Point-to-Point, scheduled this year for Saturday, April 4th. Feature race of the day is the Kentucky Hunt Cup, for qualified hunters and amateur riders over 4 miles of natural hunting country. In addition, there is a half-bred race at 2 miles, a qualified hunter race, also at 2 miles, a hunter-pace event for pairs of riders, and two pony races on the flat.

One other item: the all-day ride with a noon-time picnic lunch, which follows the Point-to-Point.

For something over 20 years now, the Iroquois Hunt has made a practice of winding up the season with this all-day safari. The beginning is always at the same point - Grimes' Mill, the Iroquois' clubhouse on Boone Creek. But from there on, the trail leads where the fancy of the Joint Masters dictates - and often into regions where angels would fear to tread. Old-timers vie with one another in recounting the toils and perils of various all-day rides, when the Iroquois leaves its own country, journeys into Madison County across the Kentucky River, over long-forgotten trails, and up and down cliffs never intended for the foot of either man or horse. But all agree that the high spot of the day is the picnic lunch, delivered to some predetermined meeting place, by firends and families. The all-day ride, traditionally the conclusion of the hunting season, is always one of its high spots.

Brandywine Hills Pt.-to-Pt.

Betty Jane Baldwin

The 17th running of the Brandywine Hills old fashioned Point-to-Point was held April 4, at Marshallton, Pa. The race was resumed after a four year absence and was welcomed back by all area sportsmen. It was run between three points on the lands of the Esco Farm, Senator and Mrs. Thomas Harney and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Laird. One of the points which was below Deborah's Rock had to be rounded twice and had to be the last point.

The course, which was approximately five miles, was not disclosed until paddock time, and the race was open only to horses and riders who had hunted regularly with the Brandywine and West Chester Hounds.

There were fourteen entries to hear the instructions which were given by Mr. John E. Cornwell, secretary of the West Chester Hunt, who with Dr. Benjamin Price and Senator Harney had chosen crossed two cattle guards which one would believe an impossible feat.

Heading for Harney's as their first point was a larger group which was headed by Mr. Jody Murtagh on Mr. Joseph T. Murtagh's Plum Run and Mr. Teddy Smith on Mr. Howard McCardle's Lady Jane. Miss Judi Scattergood on her own Buckshot, the writer on her own Bar Maid, Mr. Charles Evans on Mrs. Evans' Flares High, and Mrs. H. R. Roberts on her own Galahdina, and Mr. Baldwin on Galway Ghost were following closely. Also in this group were Mr. George Osborne on his own Topper and Mr. Maurice Pennington on Mrs. Paul Peirson's Oriole. This group went from Harney's to Esco paddock and then through the Half Way Woods to Laird's, while the group which was headed by Mr. Hey and Mr. Neville went from Laird's to Harney's and then to the Esco Paddock, with all of us having to make Harney's our last point.

the points. The ages of the riders ranged from 16 to 64, the youngest of whom was Mr. Dwight Hall riding Camp Conrad Weiser's Hannibal and the oldest, Mr. H. C. "Ted" Baldwin on Mr. Oleg Cassini's Galway Ghost.

When they left the starter entries went in four different directions. Mr. S. F. Pancoast on his Triple Try started toward the Half Way Woods alone while Mr. Jerry Hey on Mr. J. H. Baldwin's Irene Castle and Mr. Penryn Neville on Mr. A. G. Neville's Carnation led a group down through the Laird's paddocks. At the first creek Mr. Neville came to grief, but quickly remounted, and here Mr. Hall went to the front. These three went across the upper dam breast. Mrs. Frank Oas on her own Pendennis was also heading for Laird's as her first point, but she went in a slightly different direction and

When we of the first group jumped the logs between Harney's and Laird's, we could see the others rounding the last flag and knew that they had made the better ride. From Harney's flag to the finish Mr. Hey and Mr. Neville were in front followed closely by Mrs. Oas and Mr. Pancoast with Mr. Evans of our group the nearest to them about fifty lengths back. The last fence was a near catastrophe as all the horses were very tired and they had to jump out or a deep cornfield. Mr. Neville reached it first, but at a terrific angle and had a refusal, which cut Mr. Hey off and also caused Mrs. Oas to have a refusal. Mr. Pancoast went ahead with Mrs. Oas fast over on the second try.

Down the finish it was a real battle, but Mrs. Oas pushed Pendennis on to a three length victory to win the coveted All Wool Perpetual Trophy and The Thomas Walter Clark Memorial Bowl with Mr. Pancoast second and Mr. Hey and Mr. Neville coming on for third and fourth respectively and Mr. Evans closing fast for fifth.

It was a very popular victory for Mrs. Oas who had done so much to make the renewal of the race possible. Another very popular finish was Mrs. H. R. Roberts who is really one of our country's most ardent and beloved foxhunters. The most unhappy rider was Mr. George Osborne who chose the shortest course and was the first home but had forgotten that Harney's flag had to be the last point.

Fluctuate Wins Green Spring Valley Old Fashioned Pt.-to-Pt.

Mrs. H. Robertson Fenwick

Despite a light snow that fell the previous night, almost freezing temperature and a brisk wind, four gentlemen and five ladies warmed up for the Annual Old Fashioned Point-to-Point. The start was in the field on the east of Mr. and Mrs. R. Howard Lomas' Boxwood Farm. C. A. Porter Hopkins was in full control of the starting situation and it appeared to all present that Eddie Blind and Marshall Cassidy had better watch their onions. The first fence was a lovely line post and rail with ample room for all. This fence was not a compulsory first fence, but it certainly was the most logical one to jump. Mr. J. Fife Symington on Diana's Ghost, J. W. Y. Martin, Jr. aboard Sunspur, Miss Nina Gill Stewart on Dorlator and Mrs. H. Robertson Fenwick's Fluctuate (Swing And Sway-Jibberty Jab), the winner, drove downhill to the first fence at a flying rate of speed. Like all previous Old Fashioneds, friendships became extinct and tactful fibbing essential; therefore no one was completely sure of what their competitors were going to do from this point.

This early dash was necessary because the next three fences across Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Murray's were strictly one horse propositions. Harsh words were exchanged between Mr. Symington and Mrs. A. Herman Stump III on Jest-A-Rug, due to a case of mistiming over a narrow railroad tie fence. For the first time divergence of opinion arose. Mrs. Stump and Miss Stewart took a right hand turn while Mrs. Fenwick, Mr. Martin, Mr. Symington et al, jumped out of the Murray's pasture into the McLean's field. There again forces joined and immediately separated. Mr. Symington scorned skirting a wheat field and jumping out of same for a more strenuous route involving several fences and the Maryland equivalent of the Whissendine.

On the others flew between the James McHenry's incinerator and a mass of spectators. A very steep hill had to be climbed and descended before the flag on the turning point at Mr. J. K. Shaws. Here all had to pick up a poker chip which ultimately was presented to the judge, Mr. Vaughn Brown, at the finish by the first lady and gentleman. Mrs. Stump picked up the first chip, shortly followed by Mrs. Fenwick, Mr. Martin and Mr. Symington. Unfortunately a chicken coop between Mr. Shaw's and Mr. McHenry's proved a slight hazard as some of the late comers passed the early goers in mid-air going in opposite directions. This again necessitated use of abusive language.

Everyone then jumped McHenry's board line fence and headed for the F. A. Bonsal's tenant house on the Mantua Mill Road. From the Bonsal's meadow there were two possible lines to the finish. Mrs. Fenwick, Mr. Martin and Mr. Symington had decided that it would be a great saving to jump a small gate with wire on it, onto a slippery bridge, cross Mr. DeWitt Sage's driveway and head for Snow Hill Farm across the Club Road. Meanwhile Mrs. Stump had gambled on trying to jump a wide and deep ditch in the Bonsal's meadow rather than cross the bridge. Disaster followed and Mrs. Stump remounted a horse that was mud from nose to withers.

The remainder of this field, Mr. Cary Jackson on Sparklet, Mr. William Elder on Janon, Mr. Cooper Walker on Rearing Pam and Miss McHenry on her Corps d'Esprit, followed Miss Stewart and Mrs. Stump through the kennels property and so on to Snow Hill.

At the top of the hill between Mr. and Mrs. Gary Black's and the Kennels, Mr. Symington's horse had definitely shot his bolt and was wisely pulled up. From this point on it was a pleasant race between two friends and stablemates over the two remaining fences, the last of which is in the same line as the first Hunt Cup fence. Mrs. Fenwick beat Mr. Martin by a length and both horses pulled up sound. This was Fluctuate's third Old Fashioned win and he has almost decided to retire. But you can never tell about those things.

Order of finish - Fluctuate (Mrs. H. R. Fenwick), owner; Sunspur, (Mr. J. W. Y. Martin), owner; Dorlator, (Miss Nina Gill Stewart), Mrs. R. C. Stewart.

Chronicle Cover

About his work, Robert Loughheed writes: - "As a child, without instruction or encouragement, I made hundreds and hundreds of drawings of animals of every description: the farm stock, foxes, raccoons, woodchucks, pigeons, field mice, rabbits, and all the others, with a common lead pencil, the only arttool I knew then. I trapped little animals, put them into cages, and studied and drew them from all angles. When an animal was killed I made detailed studies, somewhat like a surgical artist."

"I always had a pencil and notebook with me. When I helped unload the hay wagon, I was forced to wait periodically while my father or brother, in the barn loft above, stowed the hay. During these waits I would draw the horses. Having assisted in the delivery of a calf, I sketched him while he lay on his side during the brief period that transpires before such a new-born calf takes to his feet."

When he was sixteen he read an advertisement by a Montreal firm offering an artist's-supply catalog for the asking. His copy opened a new world to him. He learned that pencils come in different degrees; that there was paper especially made for drawing was a revelation. His first sketching block enraptured him. Then came the thrilling thought: What if I could be an artist! Could a person really earn a living at a calling so pleasurable?"

Next came a correspondence course in commercial design that lasted three years - winter seasons mostly. Bob sets great store by correspondence schools. "They won't make you a finished artist," says he, "but they can give the all-important foundation that is unavailable except in large urban communities." Loughheed pere, always considerate of his son's best, gave him the sacred "parlor" for a studio, to the great and understandable consternation of Mrs. Loughheed.

At nineteen, Bob secured a job with Brigdon's in Toronto - commercial engravers and printers with an art department - the same firm that gave Robert Fawcett his commercial start. There he did mail-order catalog work and, in addition, worked for the Toronto Star Weekly as a news illustrator. For good measure he took an evening course in the Ontario College of Art. The newspaper, deciding to add color reproductions, sent him to New York for special investigation and training. The next three years were spent between Toronto and New York, after which Bob decided on the latter. He has been in New York City and Westport, Conn. for twenty years.

In New York he first supported himself doing covers for "Western" pulps and then branched out into general freelance work. At about this time he came under the influence of Frank Vincent Dumond at the Art Students League. He spent two summers with this great teacher in Nova Scotia. Quoting Bob: "Through his teaching genius he could transmit to his pupils, much of his full knowledge of historical and modern thinking. He taught me a whole new language for which I had been thirsting."

ENTOMBED FOXHOUND

Rescuers broke through a solid granite wall at Skelleftea, Sweden after nine days of blasting and chiseling to free an 11-year-old hound. The hound scampered out of the crevice which has been a prison since Jan. 6, barking joyously. It was carried in a triumphant procession, apparently none-the-worse for the ordeal. The dog named Murre is the best foxhound in the district around this village in northern Sweden, 500 miles from Stockholm. It was trapped in a crevice while chasing a fox nine days ago. Fourteen men promptly volunteered for a rescue team. After four days, they managed to chip enough rock from the narrow entrance to pass food and water to Murre. Dynamite was used to blast a tunnel through the rock to create a new entrance. But, as the rescue team neared Murre, dynamite was ruled out for fear that the dog would be injured. (U.P.I.)

North Carolina Trail Ride

The Tryon Riding and Hunt Club sponsored the first North Carolina 100 Mile Trail Ride at Tryon, North Carolina, March 25th, 26th and 27th, 1959 with Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Huebner of Jackson, Michigan and Tryon co-chairmen. Mrs. Huebner placed second in the Lightweight Division at the Virginia Trail Ride last April on her half-bred bay mare, "Yucrow".

Mrs. Charles Sweatt of Wayzata, Minnesota and Tryon riding Mr. and Mrs. Sweatt's half-bred 15 year old chestnut gelding, "Kurzon", won the Championship, as well as first place in the Lightweight Division. Second place went to Miss Joan Abernathy riding Dr. Harry Brown's "Mr. Jorlocks".

The Heavyweight Division was won by Mrs. Lucille Kenyon of Altoona, Florida riding her 8 year old gray mare, "Matazan" who is registered 1/2 Arab. This was Mrs. Kenyon's seventeenth 100 Mile Ride and she stated that it was one of the toughest courses which she has ridden. Second in this division went to Mr. Albert Berol of Bedford Hills, New York and his 8 year old gray gelding "Spanish Fleet".

Top honor in the Junior Division went to Wendy Ellen Berol of Bedford Hills, New York and her 8 year old chestnut gelding "Georgetown", with Julia Hornor of Camden, South Carolina and her Thoroughbred "Sunsails" taking second place. "Sunsails" also won the trophy awarded by the Jockey Club of America to the registered Thoroughbred finishing the highest in the ride.

Eighteen of the original field of twenty-three started the last 20 miles on Friday and all but one were able to finish. Lee Harrison from Camden, South Carolina riding Effie Taylor's "Francis" suffered a broken collar bone when the mare slipped going down an incline made slick by heavy rains during the night.

At three o'clock on Friday afternoon contestants lined up in the Harmon Field Horse Show Ring (each day's ride had started and finished at Harmon Field) for the awarding of the prizes.

Awards in the Heavyweight Division were: (1) Mrs. Lucille Kenyon, Altoona, Florida; (2) Mr. Albert Berol, Bedford Hills, New York; (3) Mr. George Beatty, Bound Brook, New Jersey; (4) Mr. Hans Senn, Tryon, North Carolina.

Lightweight winners were: (1) Mrs. C. B. Sweatt, Tryon, North Carolina; (2) Miss Joan Abernathy, Tryon, North Carolina; (3) Mrs. Albert Berol, Bedford Hills, New York; (4) Mrs. Jeanne White, Tryon, North Carolina; (5) Mrs. Barbara Walther, Spartanburg, South Carolina; (6) Mrs. F. M. Huebner, Jackson, Michigan; (7) Mrs. O. C. Carmichael, Tryon, North Carolina.

Winners in the Junior Division: (1) Wendy Ellen Berol, Bedford Hills, New York; (2) Julia Hornor, Camden, South Carolina; (3) Carm Carmichael, Tryon, North Carolina; (4) Effie Taylor, Camden, South Carolina; (5) Toby Wiygul, Umatilla, Florida; (6) Sam Bingham, Biltmore Forest, North Carolina.

Mr. Roger Maher of South Woodstock, Vermont, Mr. Donald Patterson of The Plains, Virginia and Dr. Harry Brown of Tryon formed the very capable judges group for the contest. Helen Y. Hedekin

Channel City

The Channel City horse Show held on April 3, 4, 5, in Santa Barbara, California, for the 4th year, is rapidly becoming one of California's popular shows. Although there was practically no time lag between classes, the show ran late and became too long as there were at least 150 more horses than anticipated. The Children's Horsemanship classes and pleasure horse events were switched to the warm-up area which was apparently a blow to some of the juniors who had looked forward to riding in the new arena. The show was well managed by Frank Jordano who announced that it will run four or five days next year and more eliminations will be held.

The most outstanding horse was Calico Cat which won the Jumper Championship. He was well ridden by J. J. Smith III and owned by Artesia Stock Farms. Calico Cat which has settled down since his last appearance here, won the Gambler's Sweep Stake, the F.E.I., Fault and Out and the Jumpers Puissance. This popular class which he jumped without a fault consisted of 8 high obstacles and was run on modified F.E.I. Rules. Sad Affair, owned and ridden by Barbara Worth, won the Rancho San Fernando Rey Sweepstake and was the only horse with a clean performance. Young Mary Mairs who rode Jimmy Williams' Sitting Pretty, in this class, was popular with spectators. She jumped with only three faults until her weights slipped off, before the tenth jump; they were quickly replaced and she completed the course but was disqualified under F.E.I. Rules, for having received aid in the ring.

Jimmy Williams' fine jumper, All Mio, won the Handy Jumpers and took the Reserve Jumper Championship with Kenny Nordstrom up, although he has performed more brilliantly in recent shows.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Morton's Freeloader gave a fine performance and won the Green Hunters and California Bred Green Hunters, piling up enough points to become Hunter Champion. Joline Richison was the rider. Sky Pilot, another Artesia Stock Farm grey, shown by J. J. Smith III, had a good go in the Hunter Stake and Hunter Hack, taking the Reserve Hunter Championship.

Junior Beaufort Hunter Trials

Fourteen-year-old Beverly Armstrong, of Mechanicsburg, Pa., and her good hunter, Second Choice, captured the children's championship at the Junior Beaufort Hunter Trials, held on the Bernard R. Hoppe Farm near Harrisburg. Beverly tied for points with fifteen-year-old Ruby Zemo and her veteran campaigner, This Is It. On the hack-off, honors went to Beverly. Her class victories were in children's hunters and hunter hack, while Ruby's mare won first in the Junior Beaufort Challenge trophy class, as well as a second and a third.

In the senior division, Dr. George Wade, riding Irish, captured the Beaufort Challenge Trophy, and the open working hunter title went to Gertie, owned and ridden by Dr. Rife Gingrich. He will receive a painting of his mare by Glen Cairn Bowlby, of Carlisle, for the victory. M.L.S.

PONY PROGRESS IN CANADA

At the request of the Junior Division Committee, pony breeding classes will be added to the program of the Toronto Horse Show. Horse Show Chairman Dr. J. B. Chassels was entirely in accord with the request which was based as an encouragement to breed more riding type ponies for children in Ontario. Four breeding classes for registered Welsh will be carded - stallion, mare, foal and yearling. In addition there will be two classes for pony mares suitable to produce pony hunters, one for mares not exceeding 13 hands, the other for over 13 hands. The breeding classes will be held June 5th, there also being classes for Thoroughbreds and hunters. The Hunter-Jumper performance classes will be held June 6th and the Junior Classes will be held June 7th. More classes for hunter ponies have been added to the program this year.

The Aurora Horse Show, June 13th, Aurora, Ontario, will have breeding classes for registered Welsh ponies for the first time - stallion, mare, foal and yearling classes will be provided with specials for the best 2-year-old colt and for the best 2-year-old filly. Several hunter type pony hack classes have also been added to the program which heretofore offered only harness and saddle pony events.

The Canadian Pony Society's Annual Sale of registered and grade ponies will be held May 30th at the Fair Grounds, London, Ontario, Canada. Broadview

PONY PURCHASES

Mrs. Marion Williams of Pound Ridge, New York, has just returned from England and Wales, having made the following purchases abroad: From Miss Broderick, a nice two-year-old mare who is being bred to her stallion, Coed Coch Brenin Arthur; From Llewelyn Richards, a six-year-old dun mare in foal to his stallion; From Mrs. Betty Richards (Llewelyn Richards' sister-in-law), a nine-year-old Revel mare with foal, to be covered by Mr. Richards' stallion; From Mrs. Mountain, a three-year-old mare covered by Twyford Grenadier; From Mrs. Crisp, a two-year-old in foal to Gredington Mynedydd; and from Mr. Wilding-Davies, a three-year-old mare with foal beside her by Revel Springlight and a six-year-old with foal beside her, also by Springlight. Most of the mares will arrive here in July, but some may not come until September. Mrs. Williams' mare, Dolphin Penny 1630, is due to foal in May.

ALLENDALE FARM

Mrs. C. F. Behrensmeyer of Allendale Farm, Payson, Illinois writes: - "I've been 'swamped' since our Midwest Welsh Breeders' Sale on March 30th. We sold our two lovely yearling fillies, both grey, by imported Bettws Starlight and out of the imported mares, Downland Icicle and Fronwen Nel, to M. E. Jacklin and son, Gary, of Plover, Wisconsin. The two yearling colts were not sold and are now at Khel Abara Stable, Pittsfield, Illinois, along with Bluebird's Star Fly, our harness and saddle three-year-old. This stable, under the very capable direction of Victor Kerr, will handle all our show stock, and we are delighted to be able to place them in the hands of an experienced Arabian trainer. No pure-bred Welsh foals have arrived - my registered American Saddle mare has a half-Welsh brown colt that we plan to raise for a three-gaited pony - and we will have only four this year."

CECIL COUNTY CLUB

Mrs. L. B. Gutman of Gutman Pony Farm, Port Deposit, Md., writes: - "The Cecil County Horse and Pony Club of Port Deposit, Md., has been very busy during the past year with several trail rides, skating parties, driving and riding instructions, two shows with class "A" breeding classes and a large number of equitation classes. The Junior Department arranges for all activities and when 30 turn out each time, no matter how cold, we know there will always be a keen interest in the horse or pony. At present they are busy with a 4-H Club forming within the group.

CONNEMARA WEANLING PONIES in their winter coats at Whitewood Stud, The Plains, Va.

Whitewood Stud's Connemara Ponies

At Whitewood Stud we now have a select band of seven Connemara broodmares. Among them are the two foundation mares, the first brought over to this country, who are the dams of Whitewood Biscuit, Muffin and other good ponies. Also in the band are the Irish Clifden and Dublin champions, Dairina and Western Lily.

Two yearling colts are being kept as stallion prospects: A grey colt by the Champion sire, Carna Bobby, out of Dairina, and a bay colt by Clonkehan Auratum (out of Western Lily by the famous Arab pony sire, Naseel) out of a pretty cream mare, Keanes Selection.

Our two senior sires are, Tully Nigger and Peanut Curley.

We believe our crop is outstanding and we will show extensively this summer in breeding classes. Unfortunately at the present we do not have much to show in the working divisions.

Brays Island Plantation

Brays Island Plantation, Yemassee, South Carolina, owned by Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Davis, Jr., have enjoyed a very successful show season. While the ponies were only showing at two shows, they ran up a string of 54 ribbons, including 10 blues and 8 championships and reserve ribbons. Eleven ponies were shown in June at the Eastern Pony Breeders Congress at Rising Sun, Maryland and nine at the All Welsh Show there in October. All were ponies imported from England and Wales during the past year, and, except for two brood mares, were under four years old. Mr. and Mrs. Davis were particularly pleased with the record made by Gredington Lili, a 3-year-old grey mare, by Coed Coch Madog out of Gredington Ennill, who took the model mare, mare and 1958 foal.

3-year-old mare, reserve senior and reserve grand champion mare classes, and with her brother, Brays Island Madog, the produce of dam, at the June meeting, and also the under 4-year-old stake classes in harness. Brays Island Blue Boy also won the yearling stallion class and the Junior Reserve grand championship stallion classes at that show. Clan White Judy, a lovely white mare of classic breeding by Coed Coch Glyndwr-Criban White Jane took the yeld mare class.

At the Welsh Show, Gredington Lili won the 3-year-old class, senior and grand champion mare, while her full brother, Brays Island Madog, won the yearling and junior champion stallion classes. Gredington Dywenydd and Brays Island Grey Lady won the class for

Only five sales were made, since the herd is not yet to full strength. Ankerwycke Sprightly, grey stallion by Tregoyd Starlight-Ankerwycke Craven Sprightly, to W. S. Shephard of Tampa, Florida; Brays Island Planed, grey stallion by Coed Coch Planed-Witherly Delight, to F. E. Heren of Greenwood, South Carolina; Crossways Firelight, chestnut filly by Oaerstone Brightlight-Crossways Flash, to Maurice Oppenheimer, Atherton, Calif.; Brays Island Firegold, cream stallion by Cui Florin-Dyrin Socks, was sold at the Welsh Sale at Rising Sun, Md. and Clan Chic, grey filly by Clan DuBail-Clan Crocus to Mrs. J. Austin duPont. Ankerwycke Laddie was sold to Col. Hogg, Toronto, Ontario, Canada.

Brays Island imported 18 ponies this past summer, foremost among them being Gredington Hynod, cream dun stallion by Coed Coch Madog-Coed Coch Sidan and his half-sister, Gredington Melfed, a grey filly who is also a full sister to Gredington Lili and Brays Island Madog. Gredington Hynod and Gredington Melfed have been shown extensively in England by Lord Kenyon, from whom they were purchased, and have been winners from colthood. Gredington Hynod's most impressive win this year was at Glanusk, Wales, where he won the cup as premium stallion class in a class of 15 of the best of Great Britain, his half-brother Coed Coch Planed being in second place. Gredington Hynod is the sire of Gurnos Perlen, good grey filly owned by Brays Island, and of Gurnos Greylight, cream dun filly owned by Miss Hetty Mackay-Smith of Farnley Farms. Also added to the Stable was Diamond's Glamour Girl, lovely 2-year-old Sorrel filly, by Revel Lee-Monarch's Sorrel Lola. Glamour Girl has been a big winner all summer at the Northern Shows. She was purchased at the Welsh Sale at Rising Sun, Maryland, the top Pony of the Sale.

Brays Island Welsh Ponies now number sixty. Other stallions in service are Criban Pledge, Cui Beau and Ankerwycke Victor. There are 14 weanlings, (7 fillies and 7 colts), 33 brood mares and the remainder yearlings and 2-year-olds. Scott Lansing is manager and trainer.

Squadron A Polo

Bill Briordy

The ladies held the center of the stage at the Squadron A Armory on Saturday night, March 14, as the Southbury (Conn.) Polo Club, an all-women's team, thrilled a capacity crowd of 1,500.

The enthusiasm for the Connecticut ladies was such that the final of the national intercollegiate championship between Cornell and the University of Virginia was overshadowed.

The girls lost to the New York Knights - a team composed of young men of Squadron A - 5-4, but they won the hearts of the fans with their superb spirit and horsemanship.

Ann Braun, the pint-sized Helen Putzel and Cynthia Michaels won the fans' support from the outset. The Knights didn't pull any punches, and neither did the ladies. In fact, Miss Braun, riding off Paul Bedell in the first period, knocked the Knights' No. 1 from his pony. That had the on-lookers roaring.

It was the first time that an all-women's team has ridden indoors in New York. The crowd, largest at the Madison Avenue armory in many a season, saw the slick-riding Connecticut girls turn in a fine job.

The fact that the men won meant little to the crowd. Miss Michaels, who turned the play neatly, had two goals, while Miss Putzel made one. The other goal was knocked in by a Knight pony.

At the end of the game Roy Moriarty, the Squadron A Polo Club president, gave each girl a bouquet of red roses and a kiss. It's safe to say that all hands enjoyed the ceremony.

Cornell's team of Ben and Pete Baldwin and Stan Woolaway retained the intercollegiate crown by stopping the Cavaliers from Virginia, 14-5. The Big Red team broke the game open in the second period with six goals. Ben Baldwin stroked six goals and his brother Pete got five. The Baldwins and Woolaway hail from Hawaii.

In the finale of the night's triple-header, Squadron A increased its Metropolitan Polo League lead by halting Meadow Brook, 12-8. Pete Johnson paced the winners with five goals.

Play in the Eastern 12-goal tournament saw the Blind Brook trio - Stuart Feicke won the game in the last thirty seconds - beat the New York A. C., 9-8, and Cornell trip Fairfield, 13-5.

Russ Drowne scored eight goals and set up the winning tally as the Optimists defeated the Freebooters, 11 to 10, in one of the matches at the weekly indoor polo program at the Squadron A Armory Saturday night, March 28.

Lev Miller, riding at back for the Optimists, stroked the deciding marker as the final bell rang. Miller hit the backboard following a deft pass from Drowne.

Drowne and Miller rode with Arnold Mucine, Bill Whitehead, at back for the Freebooters, collected seven goals. His teammates were Paul Bedell and Tom Calhoun. The score was tied at 7-all at half-time.

In the other match, Adie Von Gontard stroked eight goals to pace Blind Brook to a 15-to-9 decision over Brookville. Blind Brook, which also had Jack Crawford and Bill Westerlund, led by 7-4 at intermission. Crawford hit five goals.

12-Goal Final

Bill Briordy

Cornell University's standout trio was thwarted in its bid for a third indoor title when it bowed to the fine Milwaukee Knights, Western winners, in the final of the National 12-goal championship polo tournament at the Squadron A Armory on Saturday night, April 4.

After the Big Red trio of Ben and Pete Baldwin and Stan Woolaway had rebounded for three goals in the fourth period to tie the score at 15-all to send the match into overtime, it remained for Milwaukee's Paul Smithson to decide the issue 45 seconds after the sudden-death extra period had elapsed.

Milwaukee, held scoreless in the fourth chukker by the determined collegians, had too much power for Cornell. Bill Stevens, a slick-riding No. 2 who hit ten goals, directed the Knights' play superbly. He had a strong No. 1 in Smithson and an equally strong back in Don McCarroll.

This was easily the most thrilling match of the season at the Madison Avenue armory. Cornell, getting a five-goal allowance at the start, held an 11-10 lead at half-time. But the clever Stevens - he's a six-goaler - quickly got his team's attack moving in the third period. In that chapter Stevens found the mark from all sides as he hit the backboard five times to give Milwaukee a 15-12 advantage.

A beautiful backhander that traveled more than half the length of the ring by Woolaway; a short shot by Pete Baldwin and another short thrust by Woolaway tied the score at 15-15 in the fourth period. But the collegians' hopes were dashed soon after the extra period began. Stevens fed to Smithson, who poked home the winner a foot from the backboard.

The defeat was the first in twenty-one matches for Cornell, winner of the national intercollegiate and Eastern 12-goal crowns.

Zenas Colt showed the way with five goals as the Optimists beat the Freebooters 10-4, in an exhibition preliminary.

San Mateo Polo

San Barbara, Calif, March 30 - Menlo of San Mateo ended the winter polo tournament season here Sunday, by defeating defending champion Crescent Jewelers 13-7 for the Jim Colt Memorial Trophy.

The 14-goal match climaxed a season of tournament competition which saw six trophies placed on the block during the winter match season.

Manager Stan Taylor said contests will be held for the next two weeks before the season ends. Summer polo is slated to begin here on July 1, and inter-circuit tournament play has been scheduled. The Texas and Oklahoma teams which appeared here last summer are planning to return for the season, Taylor said.

In action yesterday, Bob Skene paced the winners with a six-goal performance, scoring once in each chukker. Pat Honey played his team mate a close second with five goals, and David Moore picked up the other two.

For the losers, Dr. William Linfoot was high with four goals, and Dick Sjoberg added the other three as the defending champions fell.

With the score tied 4-4 at the end of the second period, Menlo broke loose for three goals in the third and a trio of scores in the fourth while Crescent was unable to tally, to open up a 10-4 lead going into the fifth chukker.

Each team added a goal in the fifth, and both scored twice in the sixth to bring the final margin to Menlo's winning 13-7. Only two of the goals were made on penalty shots in the game, one by Skene in the third and the other by Linfoot in the sixth.

Honey and Skene played well together for the winners, with long shots by Skene setting up his partner for several scores during the contest, as Honey was able to outstride defenders to carry the ball to the goal.

VALLEY FORGE POLO

Yale University Polo Club toppled Valley Forge Military Academy's trio, 11-4, in the final indoor match of the season on Sunday, April 5, in Clothier Hall on the Wayne, Pa., campus.

The New Haven visitors rolled up eight straight goals before the Forge riders tallied midway in the third chukker of play.

Richie Jones and Jarrett Vincent paced the Yale attack with five and four goals, respectively. Kit Kerns and Bob Benedix each had two goals for the Cadets.

The loss was the sixth of the 15-match campaign for Colonel Eugene A. Fischer's trio. They won eight and tied one.

those of his muzzle and the bit. This mobile contact is accomplished by a quality of coordinated elasticity in the riders elbow and shoulder joints (not in his wrists).

It is my candid opinion that the lack of understanding of contact riding and the failure to use it throughout this country is the only real reason why thousands of our young riders and their superior horses are not now excellent prospective members for our Olympic Equestrian Squad.

Apple Hill Pony Farm

Dear Sir:

Thank you for your interest in our ponies. The Chronicle is read from cover to cover each week at our home but the Annual Pony issue is of prime interest to us because of our love for ponies.

This is our second year with Welsh Ponies and we are more pleased with our four each day. We have recently registered our prefix, Apylhyll, with the Welsh Pony Society of America. Our herd sire is Leeway Brilliance grey, by Farnley Sunshine out of Farnley Vega. Lee was shown only twice last year - Dutchess County Fair, a first place in a two year old stallion class and second place two year old stallion at Eastern States Exposition. His first foal, a filly, out of Cedar, was born in February at Grazing Fields, Buzzards Bay, Mass.

We imported three brood mares last October. They are as follows - Tanffynnon Telyn, five year old, Dappled Dark Grey, by Tanffynnon Twm Shanco out of Caran Daisey and bred to Gredington Idwal. Penrhos Linda Lou, three year old chestnut with flaxen mane and tail, by Square Commander out of Penrhos Linda and bred to Revel Comet. Bryn Gwen, three year old Chestnut, by Ceulan Revelry out of Bryn Pat and bred to Eryri Gwyndaf.

We hope to have three nice foals by the end of June and plan to show some of our ponies two or three times this summer.

Sincerely yours,
Maud S. Ifill

Pan American Dressage Trials

The U. S. Olympic Equestrian Committee has announced that the final tryouts to select U. S. entries for the Grand Prix Dressage for the Pan American Games will be held July 24-26 at the Fairfield County Hunt Club, Fairfield, Conn.

The F.E.I. Grand Prix test will be used in the tryouts, with each contestant riding the test on successive days, July 24-25, July 26th will be reserved for a possible postponement due to inclement weather or for such ride-offs as the Committee may require.

Each rider may enter one or more horses. Those competitors riding more than one mount will be required to designate one to be used in drawing for each day's starting order. The order of start for additional mounts will be designated separately.

Judges for the competition will be announced at a later date. Invitations have already been extended to two judges from abroad by the Committee.

Based upon this competition, the Committee will select three riders and, it is expected, one alternate. Names of horses and riders thus chosen will be processed as U. S. entries to the Pan Americans.

The tryouts will be subject to the rules and regulations prescribed in "Rules for Dressage Competitions", published by the F.E.I.

Individuals selected for the Dressage Team will continue training at their home stables and under their own coaches and trainers until time to ship to Chicago for the Games. The Grand Prix Dressage event at the Pan Americans will be held at the Oak Brook Club in Hinsdale, Ill., Sept. 2.

ITALIAN RIDING INSTRUCTION

Writing in a recent issue of "Horse and Hound", Pamela MacGregor-Morris says: "Almost every Italian town of any size has a riding school, equipped with an indoor or covered manege. Membership averages 8 pounds a year, and members may ride the school horses in a class, under the surveillance of an instructor, for eight shillings an hour. The instructors are generally ex-Army N.C.O.s, who must be licensed by the Federation. In the larger schools there is sometimes also a technical director, who is usually a retired cavalry officer. Children are taught to ride on horses, and at the shows they compete on horses in restricted classes.

"All the schools receive an annual subsidy from the Equestrian Federation, which is drawn from the Olympic committee, who in turn derive their funds from the football federation. The money stems from the betting that takes place on football games."

THE CHRONICLE

Olympic Equestrian Committee

1. The Olympic Equestrian Committee announces that the FINAL Tryouts to select our U. S. entries for the GRAND PRIX DRESSAGE Team for the III Pan American Games will be conducted under conditions as follows:

a) Time and place - The official tryouts will be held at the Fairfield County Hunt Club, Fairfield, Connecticut, on July 24-25-26, 1959.

b) Test employed - The FEI Test of the Grand Prix Dressage will be employed in the tryouts. The test will be ridden by each contestant on successive days, July 24-25th. The third day, July 26th, is reserved for a possible postponement due to inclement weather and/or for a "ride-off" if such is deemed desirable by the Committee. The full sized arena (turf) will be employed.

c) Horses - Riders may enter one or more horses. Those with more than one horse will be required to designate the horse to be used in drawing for a "starting order" for each day's competition. The order of start for additional horses will be designated separately. Details of stable arrangements and instructions for the use of practice or warm-up areas will be handled by the Club Manager.

d) Judges - Judges for the competition will be duly announced as prescribed by FEI regulations. Invitations to two Judges from abroad have been extended.

e) Team selection - Based on this competition the Equestrian Committee will select three principals for the Team and probably one alternate. The names of the horses and riders selected will be duly processed as U. S. Team entries to the III Pan American Games.

f) Rules and Regulations - This competition is subject to all the Rules and Regulations laid down in the booklet "RULES FOR DRESSAGE COMPETITIONS" published by the FEI. Dress will be formal and horse equipment as prescribed.

g) Subsequent operations - Individuals selected to comprise the U. S. Dressage Team will return individually to their training areas to resume conditioning and training each under his or her own Coach until time for shipping to the Games in late August. Instructions for shipping, stabling, housing and subsistence together with the Rules for Team Members will be published later.

answered Field's urgin in the stretch and the pair drew away to score by 2 lengths, with Mrs. Cordelia Scaife May's Detonation finishing 2nd, a length in front of C. R. Linton's *Cafre 2nd with the owner up. Bothered in the stretch run by Detonation, Troic finished 4th.

Following an inquiry, the stewards disqualified Detonation from 2nd position and placed him 4th in the official order of finish. This moved *Cafre 2nd into 2nd money and Troic into 3rd. In scoring his initial success in a sanctioned race on the hunt racing circuit, Bloomin' Owl negotiated the sprint over turf in 1:16.

The Dresden

Successful in his last start over hurdles at the Fairfax, Va. meeting in 1958, Major General Richard K. Mellon's home-bred, Jackdow, came out a fit horse for his 1959 debut over brush. Meeting 7 competitors in the Dresden, a 2 mile allowance test over brush, the 6-year-old Rufigi gelding registered a 2 1/2 lengths victory over William C. Robinson, Jr.'s *Valentine Slipper to give trainer Sidney Watters, Jr. a 1-2 finish in the race.

Ablly ridden by apprentice Custer (Mike) Cassidy, Jackdow took command after the front-running Parlez Me tired over the 10th jump. Over the 11th and final jump, it was Jackdow by a length, with *Valentine Slipper 2nd and Mrs. M. G. Walsh's Hindrance in 3rd place. Increasing his advantage in the run for the wire, the winner coasted under with 2 1/2 lengths to spare. Best of the balance, *Valentine Slipper gained place money, 3 1/2 lengths in front of Mrs. Walsh's *chaser.

Making a seasonal debut, Mrs. J. H. McKnight's *Darubini got up to be 4th after almost being knocked down over the 9th jump by the Saxon Woods Stable's John Gunner. A. P. (Paddy) Smithwick did a remarkable job of staying with *Darubini and getting him back into the race. Fractious and hard to get to the post, John Gunner gave apprentice James Wyatt a rough time throughout, almost losing him with a bad performance over the 7th obstacle. In winning his seasonal debut, the winner was timed in 3:55 3/5.

Mary Mellon Steeplechase

Of 6 nominees, only a trio came out for the 14th running of the Mary Mellon Steeplechase Handicap with a purse of $2,000 added. Shoulder the top weight, composed mainly of James Murphy, General Mellon's Chambourg had a good school and registered his 3rd victory in as many starts this season.

After casting a plate while jumping the 1st of 11 brush fences, the 7-year-old gelding by *Rufigi-Lettone opened a long lead and led throughout to win by 8 lengths. Unable to threaten, Mrs. Henry

J. Stringer, Jr.'s Adios Buzz was 2nd, 9 lengths in front of Randolph D. Rouse's Curly Joe, winner of the handicap in 1957. A short horse in his first start of the year, Curly Joe snapped Kenneth Field's winning streak.

Well paid for his nice school, Chambourg negotiated the course in the good time of 3:53 and picked up a net sum of $1,400 for his efforts. Standing at the Rolling Rock Club, Ligonier, Pa., the stallion *Rufigi was another to register a double, being the sire of both Jackdow and Chambourg.

Invitation Pt.-to-Pt.

Following the sanctioned program of 5 races, the association offered a fillip in the Middleburg Hunt Race Association Invitation Championship Point-to-Point. Carrying 175 pounds and ridden in hunting attire a field of 7 accepted the invitation event over 3 miles and 14 timber fences.

Having more experience as a timber rider than any of the other gentlemen confronting him, Eugene Weymouth put it to good use and chalked up a 5-length victory with Miss Phyllis Mills' Royal Romance.

After leading over the 1st fence Weymouth restrained his mount, permitting Col. Bertrand de Nadaillac to move to the fore with his Logistics, undefeated in point-to-point competition this season. The latter had Dr. J. M. Rogers on his Culmore Scott in close attention until the 9th, where Culmore Scott almost came down as he took out a large portion of the timber fence. Following this mishap, Marshall Janney on Clayton Kephart's Ba-Sic moved up to challenge with Royal Romance running 3rd behind the pair. Giving way as the field approached the 12th, Logistics, Ba-Sic and Royal Romance over with just necks separating the trio.

On landing Eugene Weymouth called upon Royal Romance and the pair moved to the fore over the 13th with Ba-Sic and Logistics in close attention. Over the 14th and final fence it was Royal Romance by 3 lengths, with Ba-Sic in 2nd place, 4 lengths to the good of the French officer and his mount. Moving away in the final stages, Royal Romance was returned the winner by 5 lengths. Going well, Ba-Sic finished 2nd, 6 lengths to the good of Logistics, while the latter had a 1 1/2 lengths advantage over Cool Harbor with Marine Major George C. Fox in the saddle. Following the mishap over the 9th, Culmore Scott was pulled up after the 12th while far out of contention.

Running over firm turf, the winner registered 5:28 to cause quite a bit of comment concerning the 5:47 which Grand Chal recorded over the same course with soft turf prevailing on the preceding Saturday.

The Wanquepin, (hurdles), abt. 1 1/2 mi., 3 & up. Purse: $500. Net value to winner: $305; 2nd: $100; 3rd: $50; 4th: $25. Winner: b.h., (S), by *Solar Slipper-Red Glow, by Mazarin. Trainer: J. Bosley III, Breeder: The Bally-Magooley Stud (Ire.). Time: 2:44.
1. *Red Sun II, (Mrs. H. Obre), 145, K, Field.
2. *Villena, (Mrs. J. Grabowsky), 145, R, McDonald.
3. December, (Mrs. C. S. May), 134, C, Cassidy.
10 started and finished; also ran (order of finish): Mrs. J. N. Andrews, Jr.'s Cable Lead, 145, J, Walker; Charkitt Stable's *Watermount. 145. T. Walsh: W. M. Jefferts.

At this time of year every race for three-year-olds proves something, and the Wood was no exception.

Though Manassa Mauler's time was a respectable 1:49 3/5, the Wood proved that the race is not always to the swift, and that you can't go twenty-two-ing for the first quarter if you want to twenty-four it in the last.

Without meaning to take anything away from Manassa Mauler (but doing it just the same) it seems to me that First Landing, without Atoll and Intentionally hammering on him, might have won this one all by himself.

But Manassa Mauler collected the $55,915, which gave him a season's total of $64,820.

The Derby gets more complex all the time. *Tomy Lee just turned in one of his best races at Keeneland in an allowance affair called the Stepping Stone.

Andrew Bartenstein, Virginia showing and hunting enthusiast, getting ready for his parade role of Col. John S. Mosby for the Fauquier County Bi-Centennial Celebration (April 30-May 1) at Warrenton, Va. The hunt country of Virginia was Col. Mosby's bailiwick during the Civil War. (Hawkins Photo)

The colt from the Coast went seven furlongs in 1:21 3/5, setting a new track record.

The chances are with good horses getting beaten by colts that aren't supposed to be good, everybody will be taking a shot at Churchill Downs' coveted fixture. It's likely that there will be a big field, and, when the course is littered up with horses, anything can happen.

Horses cannot store vital protein. New amounts of protein must be provided every day to keep your horses healthy and sound. Be sure to include WINN* and PRO-VI-MIN*, the two finest protein feed supplements in your horses' daily diets!

SAT. EVE. POST ARTICLE

Stuart Rose, foxhunter, former race rider, author of a book on the Maryland Hunt Cup (incidentally) chief editor of "The Saturday Evening Post", informs us that, due to circumstances entirely beyond his control, the article on the Pony Club previously announced for publication in the issue of May 2nd, will appear instead in the issue of May 23rd.

ELLIOTT S. NICHOLS

Elliott Slocum Nichols died at his home in Bloomfield Hills, Michigan, on April 6, at the age of 75.

Mr. Nichols' association with fox-hunting took in many areas, but it was in Michigan where he was most active. He also took a prominent part in amateur races and horse shows, in the latter being assisted by Mrs. Nichols and their four children. In recent years he had devoted himself to his breeding stables at Metamora, where his light weight and fine hands gave him the rare pleasure of training his young ones himself.

When the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club was started in 1911, "Pecks" Nichols, who had done considerable hunting in Ohio and Virginia, was honorary whipper-in, but also carried the horn for the first season. When the Bloomfield Open Hunt was started five years later, it was Nichols who insisted on the "Open" in the name, as he felt some hunts were then putting too much emphasis on social prestige, and he encouraged farmers and other landholders in the field.

During his mastership at Bloomfield,

Mr. Nichols extended the season by taking his pack down to Kentucky and later to Harpeth Hills in Tennessee. He also tried hunting in northern Michigan, but the rough jackpine and the overabundance of white-tails made it unsuccessful.

With the suburban growth of Detroit, which had taken Grosse Pointe's country and threatened Bloomfield, Nichols and a syndicate of fellow sportsmen bought several thousand acres fifty miles north of the city to establish the Metamora Hunt in 1928, of which he was Master and Joint Master for a decade. Since then he continued to be an active and enthusiastic member of the field until illness grounded him last fall.

HAMBONE

The photograph of Hambone the mule in the issue of Feb. 13 calls to mind the great Colorado Springs rodeo - polo tournaments at the Broadmoor, players coming from both coasts. Camp Carson where Col. (Cav) Jack Hettinger commanded the Jackass Battery school, and could outskin the veriest veteran at that tough outfit.

Libby Swift marrying, wonder if she'll carry along old Charlie, or has he gone to mule heaven? Used to have two farm kids with a pair of striped legged little mules who could get over any hunting country the rest could. If they couldn't jump, turn your head a minute, then look back again, and they'd be alongside you.

Hambone, a great plug for the spot Spec Penrose made famous after he quit prospecting and went to hotelling. Why doesn't our service take a leaf from such a book? They'd land more recruits and keep them, than the way they're doing. Cost less in the long run too. A few horses to feed would be easier on the national budget than so many special committees, often saying the wrong thing in the wrong place, abroad. DH

BRITISH POINT-TO-POINTS

The following letter from General the Lord Jeffreys appeared in a recent issue of the (British) "Field".

Sir. - Under modern conditions the old-fashioned point-to-point race has ceased to exist, and the modern substitute (misnamed point-to-point) which has taken its place is usually run on a park course, or something like it, and over made-up fences which bear no resemblance to natural hunting fences.

Latterly some hunts have reinstituted the old-fashioned point-to-point races, to be run across country in hunting costume, the course being pointed out at the start with some prominent point to go for. These modern cross-country races are, in fact, reinstitutions of the old-fashioned point-to-point races.

Unfortunately, however, Messrs. Weatherby have issued a notice that competitors in these hunt cross-country races will be disqualified from entering in a modern point-to-point race any horse which has taken part in one of these cross-country races. Why this action should have been taken by Weatherby's nobody knows, as these races do not compete in any way with park course racing, and they are, in fact, a renaissance of the old-fashioned point-to-point race.

PATRONESS OF THE HORSE - For more than half a century Miss Eleonora Sears of Boston has been one of America's outstanding amateur women athletes, excelling in the saddle, the squash court and as a cross country hiker. She is currently the owner of two of the horses which have starred for the U. S. Equestrian Jumping Team, both in this country and abroad, Ksar d'Esprit and Diamant. Her breeding stock is maintained at her Burrland Farm, Middleburg, Va. and she also has several horses in training at the major tracks, both in this country and in Ireland. (Hawkins Photo)

West Hills Hunt Hunter Pace Event and Hound Races - Joan Fontaine and David Wendler, West Hills Huntsman, hold the three hounds - Tom Boy, Buena Girl and Speck - before the start of the Hound Races at Master of Foxhounds Dan Dailey's Hunter Haven Farms. The Hound Races and a Hunter Pace Event were held to contribute funds to the USET. Joan Fontaine presented the Master's Challenge Cup donated by Joint Master of Foxhounds Tim Durant for the Hunter Pace Event.

AMPHIBIOUS HORN

The copper hunting horn with which Mr. E. R. Lloyd of the Devon and Somerset Stagbonds won the horn blowing contest at the "Horse and Hound" dinner and ball in London, was lost in the River Barle in 1923 by their huntsman Ernest Bawden but was retrieved in 1940.

VIRGINIANS AT FLORIDA SHOWS

Virginia show folks did more spectating and showing in Florida this winter than ever before. Ringsiders included Mr. John Pettibone, Mary Doyle, Joe Schneider, and the Neily Blairs. Waverly Farm, Gene Cunningham, and J. P. Kulzer's Ormond Biltmore Stables from Leesburg, all exhibited top stock and shared ribbon honors. Their horses will all be seen in action on the summer northern circuit.

Only other finisher was Benjamin H. Griswold 3d's New Bull.

Samuel L. Pfefferkorn's Featherstone was the lone casualty of the five-horse field, spilling Nicholas Griggs at the 16th jump. At the time of his fall, Featherstone was running in a contending position.

Aquitime Play was smartly ridden by 23-year-old William King of White Horse, Pa., coming from a distant last position to be an easy winner. Mrs. Stokes, the winning owner, is from Wayne, Pa.

King said after the race that his 8-year-old mount was always full of run but that he took him "way back" because he felt the pace was too fast.

"When I asked him after the tenth," said King, "he was ready and eager."

New Bull, ridden by Jack Griswold, and Barge Toter, with Stokes Lott in the saddle, had contested the early lead in a see-saw struggle. Barge Toter had the greater endurance, holding on for second place while New Bull dropped back steadily over the final fences.

Murray reported after the race that he hopes to ride Mainstay in the Maryland Hunt Cup, which concludes Maryland's hunt racing season April 25.

~SIR RONALD II~ br. h., 1948

by Rustom Pasha - Lady Evelyn, by Parwiz

This horse represents a combination of conformation and stamina. His winning efforts in this country were on the flat as a 4-year-old and over 1 1/2-mile hurdle courses at Aqueduct and Belmont at 5.

The sire and grandsire of *Sir Ronald II were stakes winners in England. Rustom Pasha has sired stakes winners in England, France and South America and Parwiz is among the leading sires in Argentina.

An excellent opportunity to breed for horses to race between the flags or for conformation hunters.
